15 quick ideas on how to use LearningPlanet

15 quick Ideas on how to engage your teams on LearningPlanet

It's easy to get busy and potentially miss the real value from LearningPlanet. This document has been designed to act as a reminder on some of the many ways you can use the system to get the most benefit for you and your teams.

- 1 • Create a visual wall competition as a roadmap and move people along the journey as a motivator to see how they are tracking with the rest of the team
- 2 • Assign a team member to share a 1 minute video in a team meeting and explain how they have used or could use the technique
- 3 • Play a 1 minute video in a coaching session to help show the team member how to do a specific soft skills technique
- 4 • Assign a 10 minute video to a staff member and ask them to complete the workbook and share it with you on a specific date
- 5 • Start the day or shift by playing a 1 minute video in a daily huddle, ask the reflective questions provided and discuss how the team could use the technique that day
- 6 • Put up a LearningPlanet 'Movie' poster in the lunchroom to remind people that they have access and what the login details are

- 7

 - Print out the posters from the resources section and place them around the office to remind people of the techniques you would like them to use
- 8

 - Play the latest demo video as a group to see if there are features you haven't used lately
- 9

 - Play videos from the range to support your induction program for new hires
- 10

 - Email new hires a login before they start and ask them to complete a specific video module ready for their first induction day
- 11

 - Take 10 minutes in a team meeting and play a video as part of ongoing training
- 12

 - Encourage team members to watch a video in downtime to do some personal development
- 13

 - Invite team members to plan their own self development by choosing areas to work on. Have them schedule to complete videos by specific dates, then discuss their workbook responses when completed
- 14

 - Use the results from call evaluations or catch up review sessions to then assign specific video modules to be completed
- 15

 - Use a standard learning pathway or get a tailored one for free from LearningPlanet and have the team work together towards completing it over a set period of time
